

William LeoGrande: Is Détente with Cuba Irreversible? What Obama Achieved and What's at Stake Going Forward

Wednesday, April 12
at 4:00pm
Luce Hall, Room 202
34 Hillhouse Avenue

William LeoGrande is Professor of Government and a specialist in Latin American politics at American University. Professor LeoGrande has been a frequent advisor to government and private sector agencies. He has written five books, including Our Own Backyard: The United States in Central America, 1977-1992. Most recently, he is coauthor of Back Channel to Cuba: The Hidden History of Negotiations Between Washington and Havana.

Yale MACMILLAN CENTER
Council on Latin American & Iberian Studies

Yale Program in Ethnicity, Race & Migration